DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 8-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. Claims 8-9 are unclear because they recite that a single device has the corresponding units, but the figures of the application appear to teach that the units are dispersed throughout a system (not part of a single apparatus/computer). For purposes of Examination, the Examiner will interpret the units as part of a system, which includes interconnectivity.
4. Appropriate clarification/correction is requested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 2887

2. Claims 8 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nishimura (US 6769608).

Re claim 8, Nishimura teaches a memory unit for holding a plurality of pieces of identification information of said ticket, a read unit for reading the identification information of said ticket, an inspection unit for inspecting whether the readout identification information of said ticket coincides (matches) with one of the pieces of information held in the memory, a reception unit for receiving information concerning a reissue and a rewrite unit for rewriting the identification information held in the memory unit on the basis of the reissue information received by the reception unit (FIG. 1, FIG. 11+, and FIG. 26+ which teaches reading card/ticket information, determining whether it matches that stored in memory, and rewriting/reissuing the card/information). A reception unit for receiving reissue information is interpreted as inherent as part of the initiated reissue.

Re claim 9, the limitations have been discussed above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishimura, as discussed above.

Art Unit: 2887

Re claim 7, the limitations have been discussed above. Nishimura is silent to the local server as claimed. However, (FIG. 20) teaches a network communication (F). Therefore, at the time the invention was made it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to employ a local server, as a means for communicating data over distances, such as is conventional for networking.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-6 are allowed.

6. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record fails to teach at least: the claimed interaction between at least the central server, local server, reissue terminal (re claim 1), the central server, new ID, and local server (re claim 3), and the new ID, local server, and retrieval unit (re claim 6).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Additional Remarks

The Examiner notes that claims 8-9 might also be rejectable in view of the 7114179/ Toshiba references supplied by the Applicant. Further, the IDS reference US 6167172 was lined through (not considered) because the assignee information (Hitachi) did not correspond to the US reference that was fetched with that number.
